COHA Press Release 07.56 Wor

NORIEGA MEMORANDUM TO THE PRESS:

COHA is actively monitoring the joint U.S.-French effort to extradite former Panamani dictator Manuel Noriega to France pending the imminent completion of his sentence in a F prison. U.S. Judge William Hoeveler has just temporarily stayed the extradition request, all Noriegas's lawyers to put together a defense centered on the issue of the French treating N as a common criminal and not as a prisoner of war, a status that would warrant the invoki the Geneva Convention. During these proceedings, Noriega will remain in prison. Watch more information about the Noriega case to be released by COHA in the next few days. C will also be issuing several memorandums on the Noriega era, including material pointing t complicity in support of the Panamanian strongman's rule, which gradually witnessed t conversion from U.S policy backing Noriega to being adamantly opposed to his rule. This up with the launching of "Operation Just Cause" against him and resulted in his capture lengthy prison term. This COHA material will highlight Noriega's status as evolving from a C.I.A. asset as a young military cadet to a target for U.S. elimination. In the meantime, i have any questions in regards to the Noriega case, please do not hesitate to contact COHA' at 202-223-4975 or at coha@coha.org.

Votes for Sale? Japan, China and Taiwan Duke in a Diplomatic Contest in Which Some Shame

Caribbean and Central American Countries are the Prize

Recent events have made it clear that a number of small Caribbean Basin nations are able to cast a far larger shadow than their relatively modest dimensions would ordinarily allow. What is their special draw? True, in any number of respects they already have become, or are well on the way to being, vibrant democracies. But at the same time, a number of them, many being developing democratic countries, have tainted their credentials by trading away their vote in regional and international forums for in-kind contributions as well as more direct forms of payment, allowing their leaders to make the choice as to which nations, such as China or Taiwan, would be recognized. Regarding the region's fiduciary relationship with Japan, high levels of unemployment or a straitened economy have induced Caribbean Basin countries to seek geopolitical sweeteners from Japan in order to deliver up their votes to advance Japanese whaling interests.

Subject: Event Reminder: Discover Brilliant Conference & Expo

Dear friends and colleagues,

I would like to remind you about the upcoming Discover Brilliant International Conference and Expo. In partnership with Athena Institute, Discovery Institute's Cascadia Center is organizing a "Greening the Highway" leadership forum to address the challenges of developing alternative fuels, electrification, and reducing diesel emissions on the I-5 corridor from British Columbia to Baja California. The forum, which will takes place on Wednesday, September 19, will be led by Washington State Senator Ed Murray and is designed for policymakers, NGOs, key agencies and businesses. In addition, there will be a panel discussion on the same topic from 2-3 p.m., Tuesday, September 18.

If you have any questions, please contact Jennifer Zucati at 206.292.0401 x157 or jenniferz@discovery.org

Sincerely,
Bruce Agnew
Policy Director
Cascadia Center of Discovery Institute
bagnew@discovery.org

Sustainability leaders, transportation executives, policymakers, key vendors and more are coming together at Discover Brilliant (www.discoverbrilliant.com) in Seattle, September 17 - 19, 2007 to look at innovative approaches to leveraging transportation solutions, power supply options, grid advances, building innovations, and sustainable business practices that are more economically valuable, environmentally sound, and secure.

OVER 45+ SESSIONS, 60+ SPEAKERS and HUNDREDS OF GREAT IDEAS

Sept 17 - Plenary sessions covering directions in policy, markets and technology
Sept 18 - Multiple tracks in buildings, business, utilities, transportation and communities

Sept 19 - Individual Summits on Greening the Highway, Renewables+SmartGrid, Investor Landscape, Climate Solutions Showcase and more

You can register here for one, two or all three days.

For King County, WSDOT and HTUF attendees – Save $170 for the September 18th package: Day 2 tracks plus Green Tie Gala. Enter code KCHTUF during checkout.

For the transportation executive, agency, government official or transportation enthusiast, Discover Brilliant brings the leading minds and market makers together to discuss the latest topics.

Biofuels: VP of Biofuels from Goldman Sachs, VP from the largest cellulosic producer in the US--Verenium, and Imperium Renewables will speak on what is here and what is next in biofuels

Moving People Cleaner and Smarter: CEO of Flexcar, manufacturer of electric vehicles Zenn Motors, and Professor from University of CA at Davis will talk about new and creative ways of moving people and the next generation of automobiles.

Emerging Solutions to the Transportation Puzzle: The organization leading the charge on transforming California's and the west coast's approach to transportation--WestStart-CALSTART and Hydrogen and Fuel Cells Canada will talk about the initiatives that already exist or could emerge that will fundamentally change the economy, ecology and security of the highways in North America and beyond.

Greening the Highway: With the generous support from Cascadia (www.discovery.org/cascadia/) we are bringing together transportation leaders from Canada, US Environmental Protection Agency, Washington Department of Transportation, Oregon Department of Transportation, Automobile Association of America, BC Trucking Association and the Vice Chair of Transportation from the Washington State Senate to talk about what initiatives are underway for alternative fuels deployment, truck stop electrification and more.

Additionally, Seattle's first Green Tie Gala will be on September 18th from 6:30 – 10 PM. The Green Tie Gala will celebrate the commitment individuals and firms are making to a long-term legacy. The Gala will feature and award brilliant examples of businesses, buildings, utilities, communities and transportation. Young future leaders, selected through a regional essay contest, will provide inspirational comments about leaving a sustainable future for the next generation and present the awards. Sesh Velamoor, Deputy Director of Programs for the Foundation for the Future will discuss what key factors may have an impact on human life during coming millennia. Yoram Bauman, PhD in environmental economics, "the world's first and only stand-up economist" and Professor at the University of Washington and Bainbridge Graduate Institute will remind us that we need to keep laughing. Celebrity designer, John Bruce, host of The Learning Channel's While You Were Out and the new Ecozone Project will emcee the evening's event. Single tickets are $225, and sponsorship tables of 10 are $2500. A number of other sponsorship opportunities are also available. The Green Tie Gala should be a great fun, a great networking opportunity and an insightful way to see what the leading firms, communities and organizations are doing with regards to sustainability.

Governor, your sister Molly just called and said that she had tried your cell but was not able to get hold of you. I gave her the Anchorage office and also Kris's direct line. She asked if you were all coming down this next weekend as her son will be here playing in the football game Friday evening. I told her that you would all be here and was aware of the game. She was thinking of seeing if she could make reservations at the Mansion for a couple of nights.

Have you decided what flights you and the family would like to take back to Anchorage on Saturday, either early afternoon or late evening. Thank you, Janice

In follow-up to the Alaska Primary Care Association's (APCA) Lean Healthcare Conference, it is expected that 150 – 200 will be in attendance. It is the same organization that Shelley Hughes is involved in (she would likely ask for funding).

Janice also spoke with Karleen today, and Karleen recommends Privileged or Personal Ma.
